Chairman's Corner

September 2010

Buford L. Rolin

Tribal Chairman

tlancaster@pci-nsn.gov

It doesn't seem like it should be September already. We have had a very eventful year this year and the rest of the year promises to be just as exciting.

As referenced in last month article, the Tribe hosted this year's NAYO tournament and I extend my congratulations to each of our teams, coaches, staff, and volunteers that helped make this a successful event. Close on the heels of NAYO came NASA, which was hosted in Cherokee, NC by the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. We had three men's teams and one women's teams to participate in this tournament and again Poarch Creek was an excellent example of sportsmanship and our women's team placed third in the tournament.

Magnolia Branch has been closed since June for necessary repair and stabilization to the banks along the creek. We know that this was a great inconvenience, but the work has been completed and as you will see when you attend the annual celebration on September 4th, Magnolia is most definitely the place to be for great outdoor recreational activities and events.

The 2010 Census is behind us. The information gathered will be used during the next ten years as a basis to develop programs that will enhance the quality of life in Indian Country and nationwide. Deborah Hinote, Tribal Partnership Specialist for the Census Bureau, recently met with members of the Council and staff to present an award from the Census Bureau acknowledging our assistance with the 2010 Census project. The information gathered will be of great help not only in Indian Country, but Tribally as well. The Council hopes to use the information gathered with the planning, development, and proposed implementation of a disability benefit for Tribal Members who are 100% disabled.

School is back in session so be sure to watch for children during your morning drive and in the afternoon when school lets out. Remind your children to look both ways before crossing the street because it is also their responsibility to use safety precautions.

If you get your newsletter before Saturday, September 4th, remember to cast your vote in the run-off election. If you are unable to vote on September 4th, I hope you took the opportunity to vote by Absentee or Walk-In. Your vote on the 4th is just as important as it was on June 5th.

Hvyuce, “Little Harvest”

Article by James Treat, Muscogee Nation News

In one story from Mvskoke oral tradition, it is said that an old woman was living in a certain place. She lived alone until an orphan boy came to be with her. He learned to hunt and provide meat, while she fed him tasty dishes made from a mysterious ingredient.

One day he spied on her and discovered that the food came from her body: it was corn, and she was the corn mother. She taught the orphan boy how to care for this new grain, and how to use the different varieties. Then she sent him on a long journey. Later, when he returned with a wife, the old woman's house was gone. The place was occupied instead by tall, green stalks of corn. And it has been the essential Mvskoke food ever since.

Mvskoke people have acknowledged their dependence on this sacred staple from time immemorial. Even today, the most important annual event at our ceremonial grounds is posketv, known in English as “Green Corn” because it marks the ripening of a new corn crop.

One of the earliest written accounts of the Green Corn ceremony was recorded in 1775 by British-American naturalist William Bartram. He described it as the “principal festival” and “most solemn celebration” in Mvskoke country. Posketv is a “feast of first fruits” that occurs when the “new crops of corn are arrived to perfect maturity.”

Each Mvskoke town celebrates separately, Bartram noted, “when their own harvest is ready.” After a period of cleaning and preparation, of fasting and purification, a new fire is struck in the town square.

“Then the women go forth to the harvest field, and bring from thence new corn and fruits, which being prepared in the best manner, in various dishes, and drink withal, is brought with solemnity to the square, where the people are assembled, apparelled in their new clothes and decorations.”

The men of the town partake together, then the women and children eat at their homes. That evening all “repair to the public square, where they dance, sing, and rejoice during the whole night, observing a proper and exemplary decorum.”

Green Corn thus signals the end of one annual cycle and the beginning of another. It typically happens in the days after summer solstice, initiating the Mvskoke month of Hvyuce, a designation offering further evidence of our agricultural heritage.

The name was formed by modifying the word hvyo, “harvest,” with the diminutive suffix -uce, “little.” So the first month of the Mvskoke year is Hvyuce, “Little Harvest.”

Like other months in cokv-walv Mvskoke, it has a counterpart in the yearly sequence—in this case, the month that follows: Hvyo-Rakko, “Big Harvest.”

In modern times, citizens of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation extend these traditions when they participate in the Muscogee Nation Festival, which takes place in Okmulgee following the summer solstice. The first such event was held in 1975, two hundred years after William Bartram learned the significance of Green Corn while travelling through Mvskoke country.

Industrial civilization has not been kind to corn and other living things. Mvskoke people bear an age-old responsibility to care for the vital plants that sustained our ancestors, and that will feed us and our descendants if we respect the sources of life.

Yellow Dot comes to SAIL Center

By SHERRY DIGMON
News Staff Writer/Atmore News

Folks at the Atmore SAIL Center had the opportunity to participate in a new program in the county last Friday, Aug. 6. The Escambia County Sheriff's Office has implemented the Yellow Dot program, and Farrah Gibson, ECSO administrative assistant. SAIL Center director Charlotte Purvis and Atmore Fire Chief Gerry McGhee assisted. This was the first time the Yellow Dot was offered in Atmore.

Atmore Fire Chief Gerry McGhee places Yellow Dot on rear windshield of program participant's car at Atmore SAIL Center.

The program is a way for emergency personnel first responders to get information on you if you're involved in an automobile accident. The Yellow Dot is the identifier on your car.

The process is simple.

1. You get your picture taken.
2. You fill out a form giving your pertinent information – your personal information (name, age, address, home number and cell phone number) emergency contact information, hospital preference, blood type, medical conditions / recent surgeries, allergies, medications, physicians' names and addresses.
3. Your photo is attached to the front of the form which is inserted into a small yellow folder.
4. You are given a Yellow Dot sticker to affix to the bottom left corner of the back windshield of your vehicle. The Yellow Dot goes inside your windshield unless your windows are heavily tinted. If that is the case, you can get a Yellow Dot for the outside of the back windshield.

5. Place the yellow folder in your glove compartment. This is very important. When emergency personnel see the Yellow Dot, they know to look in your glove compartment for your information.

Kinzley is the granddaughter of Charles "Bo" and Ramona Colbert and Roxanne Colbert. She is the great granddaughter of Houston and Charlotte Colbert.

Who's the Yellow Dot program for? Everybody. Older folks, new drivers, people with special needs. Every member of your family – or anyone else – who rides in your vehicles on a regular basis should have a folder in the glove compartment. This applies to all vehicles a family may have.

Purvis suggests reviewing the information every six months. Information, such as medications, may change.

You can get your Yellow Dot at the Escambia County Sheriff's Office at the Atmore Satellite Courthouse, 368-4779, or at the Poarch Creek Fire Department, 368-9136. (You can also contact the Poarch Fire Department.)

Governor Riley Re-Appoints Tullis to Four Year Term on Alabama Indian Affairs Commission

by Gayle Johnson

In 2009 the Tribal Council selected Eddie L. Tullis to represent the Tribe on the Alabama Indian Affairs Commission. Governor Bob Riley recently re-appointed Mr. Tullis to the Commission for a four year term. "I have previously served on the Commission," Tullis stated; "I was pleased when the Council selected me to serve the Tribe in this capacity once again. I am honored that Governor Riley has re-affirmed my appointment for another four years."

Created by the Legislative Act in 1984, the Alabama Indian Affairs Commission (AIAC) represents more than 38,000 American Indian families who are residents of the State of Alabama. Recognizing the unique cultural and sociological needs of Alabama's "invisible minority", the Legislature specifically charged AIAC to... "...deal fairly and effectively with Indian affairs; to bring local, state, federal resources into focus...for Indian citizens of the State of Alabama; to provide aid...assist Indian Communities...promote recognition of the right of Indians to pursue cultural and religious traditions..."

Noting that charge for action, AIAC is placed in a liaison/advocacy role between the various departments of governments and the Indian people of our tribal communities. AIAC stands alone to represent the Indian people of Alabama who wish to stand together with their fellow citizens while maintaining their own cultural and ethnic heritage.¹

Tullis stated that it is his wish that Tribal Members realize that there are a lot of issues in the State that could have a profound affect on the operations of the Tribe and that it is of the utmost importance for the Tribe to participate in the venues available to them that may have an influence on Indian communities in the state. Although the Poarch Creek Indians are the only federally recognized Indian Tribe in the State of Alabama, there are other State recognized Indian communities in the state.

"I am very satisfied to serve on the Commission now that I have been re-elected to the Tribal Council. I can now serve in a more official capacity and can be officially involved in the decision making process of the Tribe. The involvement and participation of the Tribe in the affairs of the State of Alabama has increased and continues to grow due to issues facing our state, our communities, and Indian people."

Tullis stated that since returning to the Tribal Council he has been very impressed by the progress made by the Tribe to provide better services to Tribal Members that enhance their quality of life as well as impacting the community outside the Reservation. "I can't help but be impressed with the fact that the Tribe continues to strive to hire and retain an efficient and effective staff to manage the day to day operations of the Tribe and provide services to our people. I am also greatly impressed by the younger generation of Tribal Members who have shown a keen interest in what is happening at Poarch Creek."

Eddie L. Tullis

Mr. Tullis would like to encourage all Tribal Members to involve themselves in the Master Plan process. "A great many of our Tribal Members have been involved in this process and it is my hope that those who have not been involved up to this point will become involved in the implementation process of the plan. I feel that the Master Plan is a very comprehensive plan that will serve the Tribe well for the next twenty years. I know that we will never have unanimous support, but this plan gives almost every Tribal Member the opportunity to get involved. It is my hope that they will seize the opportunity."

Mr. Tullis was elected to the Tribal Council on June 5, 2010. He is a long time Tribal political figure having served on the Tribal Council for over thirty years, most of those years in the capacity of Tribal Chairman.

The Poarch Creek News customarily runs an introductory article on newly elected Tribal Council Members. Such an article about Mr. Tullis was run in the April 2008 issue of the Poarch Creek News. He has elected not to re-publish this information as he feels most Tribal Members are well acquainted with him. If you would like to read this article, or any other back issue of the newsletter, it can be found on the Tribe's official web site at www.poarchcreekindians-nsn.gov. The newsletter is located in the Pressroom.

Low Turnout for Run-Off Election Debate

By Gayle Johnson

A crowd of approximately fifty attended the run-off election debate hosted by the Election Board on Saturday, August 7, 2010. Judge Mark Kennedy served as moderator for the event and explained the rules and allotted time frame to the candidates.

Robbie McGhee & Amy Bryan
Candidates for Treasurer

The candidates for Treasurer, Robert “Robbie” McGhee and Amy Bryan were the first to debate. The first question asked of these two candidates was ‘What makes you the most qualified person to be the Treasurer of the Poarch Creek Indians?’ Robbie responded with his education, years of employment with the Tribe and various federal agencies and his background in finance with the Creek Indian Enterprise Development Authority and the Budget and Finance Legislative Committee of the Tribal Council. “I think it comes down to your qualifications and education and what you can contribute to the position. As I studied for my Graduate’s Degree, I had the opportunity to work in Washington DC with the BIA, the Department of the Interior, the Office of Press Services, and the Indian Affairs Committee of the US Senate, this helped me understand the policies and laws that affect us at the Tribal, federal and local levels. It has always been my goal to return home and serve my Tribe.”

I think it comes down to your qualifications and education and what you can contribute to the position. ... It has always been my goal to return home and serve my Tribe.

-Robbie McGhee

Amy based her qualifications on her past employment with the Tribe as Special Assistant to the Tribal Chairman and as the owner of a very successful business. “My company was the first American Indian woman owned Certified 8A HUD Zoned Disadvantaged Business. We worked primarily with the federal government and have received many awards for our work. I understand financials and I want to get the people involved. I want them to know what is going on with the Tribe’s money.”

The candidates agreed and disagreed in their response to other questions asked. They both support Indian Preference in hiring, mentor programs, meeting the social needs of Tribal Members and investing in other Tribal opportunities for revenue other than Gaming; they disagreed on the question addressing the Council’s control over Tribal finances and donations to surrounding communities.

*I understand financials and I want to get the people involved.
I want them to know what is going on with the Tribe’s money.*

-Amy Bryan

The candidates for Secretary, David Gehman and William Bailey, took their place at the debate table after a brief break following the debate between the Treasurer candidates.

David Gehman (l) & William Bailey (r)
Candidates for Secretary

Again, the first question was ‘What makes you the most qualified person for the Secretary of the Poarch Creek Indians?’ William stated that he thought he would be the best because “I think of my people as a whole. I have seen positions filled by non-Tribal Members, I have seen Tribal Members be fired for no reason. I can stand up for these people. I can be their voice on the Tribal Council.”

I can stand up for these people. I can be their voice on the Tribal Council.

-William Bailey

David's response began with his experience "As I stated before, I have participated in Tribal leadership for several years. That has given me the opportunity first hand to be involved, to deal with the regulations and to deal with the problems we have. We have problems today that we have never had before. I would think that my experience working with the Council and my experience as a business owner has equipped me to respond to the needs the Tribe has."

The candidates basically agreed on the majority of the issues. They both agreed that there should not be established qualifications to run for Tribal Council, that it is your right as a Tribal Member. Lowering the blood quota was a topic that both candidates stated should be decided by the membership

We have problems today that we have never had before. I would think that my experience working with the Council and my experience as a business owner has equipped me to respond to the needs of the Tribe.

of the Tribe and that this is an issue that has to be addressed. Veteran recognition is also an issue that both candidates feel is of importance to the Tribe; honoring veterans is a tradition in Indian country and we should make sure that our veterans are recognized and honored as they should be. The opinion of publishing the Tribal Council Meeting Minutes and other board meeting minutes brought out two different opinions. Tribal Members should have access to those records, but there are those outside of the Tribe that should not have access to those records.

Elder Benefits To Lower To Age 55 In Steps

By Gayle Johnson

In recognition of rising costs and the need to support our elders, the Tribal Council has revised the Elder Benefits Ordinance and approved the appropriate Resolution that will lower the age of eligibility for Elder Benefits to age 55 by fiscal year 2014, as long as funds are available. The possibility of accelerating this schedule also exists if the Tribe's revenues continue to grow at the same rate. The Tribal Member Benefits Department will be sending a letter to all Tribal Members age 55 and above with complete details in the near future. Please watch your mailbox for this very important letter.

In summary, the Tribal Council approved the following:

Effective January 2011, Tribal Members age 65+ will receive a monthly benefit of $250.00. Tribal Members age 62-64 will receive a monthly benefit of $200.00, if funds are available.

Effective January 2012, Tribal Members age 65+ will receive a monthly benefit of $250.00. Tribal Members age 60-64 will receive a monthly benefit of $200.00, if funds are available.

Effective January 2013, Tribal Members age 65+ will receive a monthly benefit of $250.00. Tribal Members age 58-64 will receive a monthly benefit of $200.00, if funds are available.

Effective January 2014, Tribal Members age 65+ will receive a monthly benefit of $250.00. Tribal Members age 55-64 will receive a monthly benefit of $200.00, if funds are available.

The Tribal Council also stated that they are diligently working on possible benefits for those Tribal Members who are 100% disabled. This benefit has not been established but it is the hope of the Tribal Council that information gathered from the 2010 Census will assist them in the planning and implementation of a monthly benefit for the disabled.

Farewell To Loved Ones WITH SINCERE THANKS

and APPRECIATION

MARTHA MCGHEE WILSON

Honoring the Home-Going of our Precious Mother

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for the generous support, love and thoughtfulness during the passing of our mother Martha McGhee Wilson. Our Mom was not only our Mother but also our Best Friend. We enjoyed every precious minute we spent with her and made sure every day was filled with quality time. Whatever Momma wanted she got and wherever Momma wanted to go, she went. Mom lived life to the fullest! She enjoyed going to church, vacationing with her children, spending time with her sisters and friends, fishing and especially going on cruises! She will be truly missed. There will always be a special place in our lives holding so many precious memories that we hold so dear. Mom, we love and miss you so much, but we know one day we will be together again.

Our family would like to thank the Tribal Council, PBCI employees, Tribal Members and community who contributed food, cards, flowers, words of encouragement and time out of your busy schedule to attend the wake and funeral. Your support and prayers is greatly appreciated.

May you richly be blessed!

Shirley Roberson, Mike McGhee, Chris Allison, Cornelia Miller, Margaret Baggett, Gwen Manning and Jr. Manning (Martha's Children)

DOTTIE COLBERT PADGETT

The family of the late Dottie Colbert Padgett wishes to express our sincere appreciation for those many acts of kindness, providing food, words of comfort, messages of sympathy, and visits at our home. Your visits to the funeral home and condolences offered will never be forgotten. During this time of sorrow we learn how much our family and friends really mean to us. Thank you for being with us during this difficult time. Your thoughts, prayers and words of sympathy will always be remembered.

Legal Update

Submitted by Venus McGhee Prince, Attorney General

I wanted to take this opportunity to update you on several legal matters affecting your interests as tribal members. If you have any questions regarding any of these matters, please feel free to contact any of your Tribal Council members at (251) 446-1140 or me at (251) 368-9136 Ext. 2525.

LEGAL SERVICES PROGRAM

As mentioned in the past two newsletters, the Tribal Council is currently considering a new tribal member benefit—the establishment of a Legal Services Program that would provide certain types of legal services to individual tribal members regardless of his or her location or income. THANK YOU to all tribal members who have already called and provided their input. Again, we need your help in determining what types of legal services are most needed by tribal members.

While obtaining your input into this potentially valuable service for Tribal members, we also would like to take the opportunity to get to know you and speak to you in person regarding your legal services needs. The Legal Department welcomes you to “Talk Time with Legal” on Wednesday, September 29, from 5:00-6:30 in Building 200. We will be providing a few sample legal documents, such as a Power of Attorney form, and be available to discuss what legal services we currently provide for Tribal entities and what services could be provided directly to you by a Legal Services attorney. Please join us! If you are unable to join us, please contact your Tribal Council members or Lori Findley, Legal Coordinator, at (251) 368-9136 Ext. 2530 or lfindley@pci-nsn.gov to share your thoughts by September 30th.

EFFORTS FOR A CARCIERI FIX TO PROTECT RIGHT TO TRUST LANDS

As previously reported, the Tribe has been working diligently with the rest of Indian country to protect trust lands after the February 2009 decision of the United States Supreme Court, Carcieri v. Salazar, which held that the Secretary of Interior could not take land into trust under the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA) for the Narragansett Tribe in Rhode Island. In light of this decision, any Tribe requesting that land be placed into trust must prove that it was “under federal jurisdiction” in 1934. This new standard is the subject of much debate, and Indian country has been pushing for a legislative “fix” of the IRA by Congress.

Our Tribe recently participated with numerous Tribal leaders in a Carcieri summit in Washington, D.C. on July 13th. Tribal leaders and their legal and lobbying teams met with Congressional representatives and the Department of Interior to push for a legislative fix and to emphasize the need for Congress and/or the Department of Interior to clarify the uncertain situation created by the Supreme Court decision. We will certainly keep you posted as to any significant developments.

SIGNIFICANT COURT CASES

Community Recovery Services, Inc. v. PCI Gaming v. Eddie L. Tullis

As you know, in March 2006 Community Recovery Services, Inc. (“CRS”) sued PCI Gaming in Tribal Court for over $2.1 million claiming unpaid invoices for the performance of work on the Riverside project. For the past four years, PCI Gaming has defended itself against CRS’ claims and maintained its counterclaim against CRS for over $2.5 million in excessive overcharges in the performance of the same work. As part of its defense, PCI Gaming filed a third party complaint against Eddie L. Tullis, so that PCI Gaming’s assets would be fully protected against the payment of any further claims by CRS.

The trial was held the week of June 22, 2009. PCI Gaming filed a post-trial evidentiary motion on October 1, 2009, and the parties completed post-trial briefing on November 3, 2009. The Tribal Court recently granted PCI Gaming’s post-trial evidentiary motion on April 5, 2010. Per a request from the Tribal Judge on July 26, 2010, the attorneys for the parties will be participating in a conference to discuss issues and evidence and to present closing arguments on September 13th.

Alabama Department of Transportation v. Poarch Band of Creek Indians d/b/a Wind Creek Casino & Hotel, PCI Gaming, CIE et al.

As earlier reported, on April 15, 2010, the Alabama Department of Transportation (“ALDOT”) sued the Tribe, PCI Gaming, CIE, and each entity’s Chairman in Escambia County for alleged illegal advertising on the Tribe’s water tower located next to Interstate 65. ALDOT wanted the Tribe to remove “Wind Creek Casino and Hotel” from the signage on the water tower. The Tribe filed a motion to dismiss based on sovereign immunity. On July 22nd, ALDOT moved to dismiss its complaint against all Defendants without prejudice, and the Court granted ALDOT’s motion. “Without prejudice” essentially means that the plaintiff is voluntarily dismissing the case, but reserves the right to file it again. As a result, this case is resolved unless ALDOT refiles its complaint in the future.

Poarch Community Church Travels To Montana

Submitted by Catherine Sells

Members of the Poarch Community Church recently attended the Native Assembly hosted by the Northern Cheyenne Mennonite Churches in Montana. Meetings were held at St. Labre Indian School in Ashland. Tribes from across the United States and Canada were present.

While in Montana, they visited Medicine Rocks where Sitting Bull's vision 'your enemies will be delivered into your hands' was recorded one year before the battle of Little Big Horn; they visited the Little Big Horn battlefield the next day. They also visited the Northern Cheyenne tribal Offices and Lame Deer Churches and the 100 year old White River Church. The children had the opportunity to visit Mount Rushmore; it was truly an inspiring and learning trip for the children. The children also enjoyed St. Labre's heated indoor pool while the adults enjoyed the nice dry cool air! They thank God for a safe and wonderful trip.

Poarch Community Church Members at St. Labre Indian School in Ashland, Montana

The Heart of Our People

Submitted by Pastor Dave Moulton
Poarch Community Church

Not too long ago I received a phone call from the Tribe's Family Services Department requesting help from the church. A group of young people from the Yakima Tribe in the state of Washington was stranded in our area and needed help. I found myself astonished the next couple of days at the outpouring of love, help and support our community offered to these strangers.

The group had traveled to our area in hopes of finding employment in the oil spill clean-up. They had been told that there was plenty of work for them and that their needs would be met. When they arrived, they were not able to contact the individual they had been in contact with and were not able to get employment in the oil clean-up. They soon ran out of money and resources. They sought assistance from various agencies and churches to little avail. After one church gave them a gas card they headed to the one place they knew they could get assistance; an Indian Reservation, which is how they came to be at Poarch Creek.

The first night at Poarch Creek the girls stayed in the Domestic Violence Shelter while the boys stayed at the church. The next day the girls were moved to a separate room at the church and the community began to pull together to help them in their time of need. Community members and local churches came together and provided food, clothing, and money. Family Services was able to contact their home tribe and arranged for their per capita checks to be forwarded to Poarch due to their emergency situation. These young people expressed gratitude to all involved and were soon on their way home.

I was impressed with the love and care our community showed. I can't help but think of Jesus' words "...inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me." (Matt. 25:40) Thank you Poarch Creek for showing me once again what it means to love your neighbor.

Spread love everywhere you go: First of all in your own house... Let no one ever come to you without leaving better and happier. Be the living expression of God's kindness; kindness in your face, kindness in your eyes, kindness in your smile, kindness. Mother Theresa

4-H Fashion Show

Submitted by Christyn Sells

On Wednesday, August 4, 2010, the Poarch Creek 4-H Club went to the Genesis Career college in Daphne, Alabama to get their hair shampooed and styled for their $15 challenge Fashion Show. Weeks earlier the kids were challenged to put together an outfit that would cost no more than $15.00 and had to be purchased at a yard sale, or a thrift Store. Each participant successfully accomplished the task and celebrated with a fashion show to show off not only their good fashion sense, but also their ability to find a good bargain.

Side note: Most of the kids put together more than one outfit for the $15 amount.

The Hard Road to Federal Recognition

Over the past few years we have had inquiries from Tribal Members wanting to learn more about the Tribe's Federal Recognition process and the historical information that was provided to the Federal Government for Federal Recognition. The Tribal Council would like to share this information with you. It will outline the struggles and hardships that as a community we have experienced. However, as you will see in future articles, it was these struggles and hardships that kept our community together which was essential in our Federal Recognition.

The entrance of DeSoto into Creek country in 1540 was soon followed by that of Tristan De Luna in 1559. De Luna's forces, like those of Juan Pardo who followed him, began the Spanish practice of assisting one town or tribe within the Creek confederacy in its warfare against another. European weaponry was introduced into the Creek nation during this time, irrevocably changing Creek life. For almost an entire century, the principal European players in Creek history were the Spanish, who by 1670 had colonized much of the Atlantic seaboard of present Florida. During this period, the Spanish struck a trail westward and established a chain of missions west across Florida and through the panhandle, ultimately reaching Pensacola. The missions consisted of small garrisons with a contingent of clergy, under whose supervision and tutelage were numbers of pacified Indians. Pensacola, owing to the fine deep-water harbor, became an important center for the Spanish later in the 17th century. While the condition of the confederacy among the Creeks at the time of De Soto's arrival is unclear, by 1670 the confederacy was thriving, no doubt due to the increased trading and military activity of the Spanish during the first century of European settlement.

In 1670 the first British settlement was founded in Charleston in present South Carolina. Charleston became the center of Creek-English trade and commerce. It is from Charleston that Lachlan McGillivray, father of Alexander McGillivray, made his first venture into the Creek nation. French colonist Jean-Baptiste Le Moyne established a fort at the mouth of the Mobile River thirty-two years later which was relocated to present day Mobile and became the capital of French Louisiana until 1720. Occupying the central position between the French, Spanish, and British colonies, the favor of the Creeks was a matter of concern to these nations, and they played a more important part than any other American Indians in the colonial history of the Gulf region.

In 1685 Henry Woodward, an English trader supervising an expedition of other traders with a large supply of goods and arrived in Coweta. Upon his arrival, the Creeks allowed him to construct the first English trading post in the Nation. It is through the media of intensified warfare, hunting, and trading that the Creeks became a fiercely acquisitive and affluent Indian society and lost many of their old manual arts and became abjectly dependent upon the English trading system. Woodward's outpost flourished and others were begun. In 1705 the English colonists signed a treaty of alliance with the Lower Creeks of Coweta. The French sent an expedition north along the Alabama River to the fork of the Coosa and Tallapoosa where they established Fort Toulouse, a garrison and trading post. French Captain Marchand, who was stationed at Fort Toulouse, married Sehoy of the Wind Clan. Their only daughter, Sehoy Marchand, is an ancestor to the McGillivrays and Weatherfords.

The year following the establishment of Fort Toulouse the bloody Yamasee war began. One outcome of this war, which resulted in the near eradication of the Yamasee, was the incursion of the English into Spanish territory. In 1733 the English colony of Georgia settled in the area once occupied by the Yamasees. A treaty was signed between the Lower Creeks and English General James Oglethorpe; this treaty ceded to the Georgia colonists the first in a long series of cessions which led to the loss of all land for the Creeks in their native habitat in 1832.

Fort Toulouse

In 1754, the French and Indian War began in the American colonies. The war involved a number of European nations and their respective colonies. In 1763 the Treaty of Paris was signed wherein England acquired Spanish Florida and all the territory of the French east of the Mississippi River. England, by proclamation of 1763, established the provinces of East and West Florida. It was at this point in time that English settlers began to infiltrate gradually into the Lower Alabama River area and established the settlement areas of Tensaw and Tombigbee, which attracted to them some of the ancestors of the present Poarch Band of Creek Indians. While neither the French nor Spanish had extensive settlements in the area during their respective occupations of the region, there were nonetheless a small number of them living in the vicinity. The Tensaw/Tombigbee settlement area thus served as home for a small number of French and Spanish families, a second and more numerous wave of Englishmen from the Atlantic seaboard and somewhat later a large contingent of wealthy half-blood Creeks – many of whom were related – who were the wives, sons and daughters-of “Indian country-men” i.e, non-Indians who married Indian women.

The settlement in the Tensaw/Tombigbee area was unique in the history of the colonial South; not only was the population multi-national, it was also multi-racial. Lachlan McGillivray established a large cattle ranch in the settlement and with the assistance of his son Alexander, sold hides for shipment around the world. Charles Weatherford had a large plantation and built the first horse race track in the territory. Both had married Creek women, and were thus considered “Indian country-men.” Both had been traders among the Upper Creeks, and had made alliances with other Indians, Indian country-men, and their half-blood relatives in the Upper Creek territory. These alliances were maintained into the Tensaw/Tombigbee area; many of the half-blood property owners had property in both areas. However, a greater number relocated altogether from the Upper Creek county to the Tensaw region. This relocation occurred gradually between 1780 and 1800. There was a high incidence of intermarriage among these early half-blood ancestors of the present day Poarch; many of the half-blood men initially married native women. Thus the embryo of the community known today as the Poarch Band of Creek Indians was formed during this period. Because the half-bloods did not live harmoniously with their full-blood kinsmen in Upper Creek towns, the Creek Convention granted them “leave to settle” on Indian land in the Tensaw area. The half-blood settlement near Tensaw was a legitimate town of the Creek Confederacy and maintained full political relations with the Convention meetings alternately in Tuckabatchee and Coweta.
