Words are singularly the most powerful force available to humanity. We can choose to use this force constructively with words of encouragement, or destructively using words of despair. Words have energy and power with the ability to help, to heal, to hinder, to hurt, to harm, to humiliate and to humble.

KEEP YOUR CONTACT INFORMATION UPDATED!

In order for the annual Tribal Member holiday distributions to be processed accurately, Tribal Member Benefits needs to be informed of any changes you may have to your current banking account or address. Please contact the Tribal Member Benefits Department at (251) 368-9136 ext. 2209 or 2207 so that a new Direct Deposit Form can be mailed to you to be completed and returned for processing.

It is very important to keep your Tribal Census information up to date. When preparing the newsletter for publication each month an updated Head Of Household mailing list is obtained from Tribal Enrollment to ensure that the address information is current and up-to-date.

Unfortunately each month the Post Office returns numerous newsletters that are undeliverable due to incorrect or incomplete addresses, no mail receptacle, individual moved and left no forwarding addresses, etc. These newsletters are held for one month after publication, if the individual does not claim their newsletter, it is forwarded for recycling.

The July newsletter for the following Tribal Members have been returned by the Post Office:

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND AWARENESS

1-800-273-8255

To Talk To Someone NOW

SEPTEMBER IS SUICIDE PREVENTION MONTH

Many times, the effects of war are not just physical. Just as there are numerous support networks for the conflict wounds worn on the outside, it is crucial that there be programs and outlets for military service members and their families that are working through emotional damage. Not all issues will escalate into full blown problems, especially if preventative measures are taken. Have you noticed a loved one withdrawing from family and friends or taking on new and dangerous hobbies? These could be signs that bigger issues are brewing.

Although awareness efforts will continue throughout the year, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has named September National Suicide Prevention Month. Family members, friends, and surrounding community members are encouraged to get involved, learn more, and help spread the word to promote mental health and prevent Veteran suicide.

Education comes first. The VA stresses the importance of individuals and organizations learning the warning signs of depression or the sudden presence of risky behavior. But what of the people that show no classic warning signs, and are hesitant to reach out because of the stigma behind asking for help?

The Military Crisis Line provides free, confidential support to Veterans and their families from qualified professionals—many of them veterans themselves. Since its launch in 2007, they have answered more than 640,000 calls and made more than 23,000 life-saving rescues. The Veterans Crisis Line is open around the clock, seven days a week, and veterans can connect via phone, anonymous online chat, and text message. Click here to learn about the signs of crisis.

AfterDeployment.org provides interactive videos, resources, assessments and more information focusing on PTSD, anger, depression, and other topics.

Military Mental Health provides anonymous mental health and alcohol self-assessments, along with additional resources for family members and loved ones.

The National Center for Telehealth and Technology has put together a list of mobile applications and healthcare provider resources for service members, veterans, and their families. View or download these apps at www.t2health.org/mobile-apps.

Suicide is preventable. During Suicide Prevention Month, show support to those in need and their loved ones by spreading the word about these and other confidential resources that are right at their fingertips.

A MOMENT WITH THE TRIBAL CHAIR

SEPTEMBER, 2014

Stephanie A. Bryan, Tribal Chair/sbryan@pci-nsn.gov

I can remember back thirty years ago like it was yesterday, and how it felt when I first heard the news that we, the Poarch Creek Indians, had finally achieved federal recognition. Words cannot describe what a proud moment that was for me and our entire Tribal Nation. So much hard work by so many people had gone into achieving this milestone for our Tribe. Since that time we have experienced major progress and positive growth that I think very few of us ever dreamed possible back then. We have come a long way in thirty years, and our Tribe has truly been blessed. I hope that you were able to join us to celebrate the 30th Anniversary of the Tribe's sovereignty at the Annual Celebration this year. It was so great to see everyone, and if you couldn't make it— we missed you and make plans to be with us next year!

One of the top priorities for me and the entire Tribal Council has been enrollment. We will be hosting several community meetings for Tribal Members to discuss this issue. As we carefully discuss this endeavor, we are careful to remember that we must look out for the best interest of the Tribe as a whole. This issue will remain at the forefront of Tribal Council's priority list until it is successfully resolved.

The Tribal Council has been extremely busy handling broader national issues which affect not only our Tribe but tribes across Indian Country. We are working diligently to ensure that our voice is heard on issues impacting the Poarch Creek Indians at all levels of government.

As I settle into the Tribal Chair position, there will be some forthcoming changes within the Chair's Office and to the Tribal Government Complex. We have retained a firm for campus planning, and they will be helping us determine the best use of space for our office buildings. Our goal is to utilize our resources wisely and to make our Tribal Complex a more efficient and effective use of space. Please keep in mind that the transition is a work in progress. Your patience is appreciated as we make these changes. I am excited about these changes and hope that you will share in my excitement as we continue to grow and prosper!

It is now fall and school has started in most areas. There has been a tremendous response for the school supply program, which is a great benefit. I want to remind you all that we have exceptional educational benefits that offer outstanding opportunities for tribal members and first generation descendants. We are constantly striving to be proactive and offer additional educational benefits.

The youth of this Tribe is the future, and I am so glad that we have a Boys & Girls Club to help nurture, educate, and support them. My heart's desire is to work diligently with my fellow Tribal Council members and the staff for a new facility for the Boys & Girls Club. My desire is to see a new facility emerging by next summer.

I want to congratulate the teams that participated in NASA this year. This year PCI had 9 teams competing, with 30 teams from visiting tribes competing. This gave us an impressive overall total of 39 teams competing at NASA. It is always an honor and privilege to host an event such as this and engage in friendly competition with various native tribes.

COUNCIL'S CORNER

SEPTEMBER 2014

Robbie McGhee, Vice Chair/rmcghee@pci-nsn.gov

I hope that everyone has had an enjoyable summer; this month many of you will resume the daily routine that you have become accustomed to, once again getting your children ready for another exciting school year. This is the time I am sure each of you ask yourself, is my child getting the education he or she will need to provide them with the basic foundation skills/tools required to further their opportunities in life?

I hope that each of you remember that we can't expect our school system to do it all. I am sure, you as parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, understand that it takes each of us to get involved in our children's education. We need to make sure our children are getting the support they need not only in the educational system, but also at home. The Tribe has many services that are made available to our Tribal Member students and parents, to assist each of you with your child's educational needs. This issue of the newsletter mentions several programs that I hope you, as caregivers, will be taking advantage of this school year.

Also this month, many of you have begun the difficult, and I am sure emotional, task of moving your new high school graduates into the dorm/apartments where they have decided to spend the next 2-4 years of their lives. I am just happy that the Tribe provides the opportunity for all our Tribal Members to acquire an advanced degree. This is an emotional time for each of you, however it is also the time to let go and trust that you have instilled in your son or daughter the tools they will need to survive in this new environment. Be confident in your parenting that you have raised strong young adults who may become the future leaders of this tribe and their generation. It is time to let them go and allow them to leave their footprints on this world, but also - be ready- to be there when they need that reassurance that they can handle anything that is brought their way. With your unconditional love and support they can become the successful individuals that you have asked for in your prayers. God Bless.

Sincerely,
Robert "Robbie" McGhee

Good luck to all my nephews and nieces in this 2014-2015 school year!

BARNETT PLAYS ON TEAM USA

Tribal Member Carolyn Hendrix's granddaughter, Ashley Barnett, recently traveled to Italy to play softball with America's Team, Team USA. She and her teammates were selected from all over the United States. Team USA won all 6 games they played and made America proud. Ashley actually scored the winning run during the second game against Italy's Seagulls.

Ashley resides in Molino, FL and attends Tate High School in Pensacola where she plays softball and plays travel ball for West Florida Elite.

Ashley says that it was an honor to have been selected to represent her country on the softball field in Italy.

CREEK WAR OF 1813-1814

Submitted by Robert Thrower, Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (THPO)

Disturbing News from Pensacola in 1813

When spies, David Tate and Will Pierce, sent out by Colornal Carson of Fort Stoddard, returned from Pensacola, it was confirmed that the Redsticks had called upon Spanish Governor Manique, and were successful in their negotiations. Though they had wanted much more, the Redsticks had been given three hundred pounds of gun powder and a large quantity of lead.

To obtain this large supply of ammunition and gunpowder, Peter McQueen, one of the Red Stick leaders, had given the Governor a list of the Redstick towns ready to take up arms, which amounted to some four thousand eight hundred warriors.

David Tate reported that, according to the prisoners that the Redsticks had brought with them, the Redsticks had repeatedly threatened vengeance against the white people and there had been some talk of possibly attacking Tensaw settlers on their way back home. Tate and Pierce also reported that the Redstick Creeks had held their war dance and openly declared that they were going to war against the Americans; and that upon their return to their nation, they would be joined by seven hundred warriors at the Whet Stone Hill.

The Redstick's plans were to distribute their ammunition at Whet Stone Hill and then return to attack the Tombigbee and Tensaw settlers.

With these confirmations of imminent threat, Colonel

James Caller, a senior militia officer from Washington County, ordered the enrollment of a militia to confront the threat of the Redsticks. Colonel Caller and his forces were to intercept the Creeks upon their return from Pensacola and capture the ammunition and gunpowder they had obtained.

FORMER CHAIRMAN VISITS THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT AS THE HEALTH AMBASSADOR

Buford L. Rolin has devoted his life and career to improving the health care of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians and other Tribes in Indian Country. In recognition of Mr. Rolin's diligent service and devotion to health care issues, the Tribal Council proclaimed Buford L. Rolin to be the Health Ambassador.

We were fortunate to have Mr. Rolin join us for the Health Department's Leadership Team Meeting "Team 15" where he shared words of wisdom, support, and encouragement.

NEW BILLING SERVICES

The Health Department is in the process of implementing a revenue cycle improvement project to streamline and automate billing processes. We have been working to install new software to automate insurance billing and increase clinic revenue so that we may continue to expand services.

Revenue Cycle Management, What does it mean? In a nutshell, it means taking steps to assure the PCI Health Department is paid by insurance companies for medical services provided. The revenue cycle process manages claims processing, payment and revenue generated from Medicare, Medicaid, and other commercial insurance companies. What this means for you? Your experience at the Health Department will not change; however, if you have insurance with Medicare, Medicaid or a commercial insurance company, it is important you provide this information to the Patient Registration Specialist at check-in. This insurance information is used by the Business Office to bill your health insurance company for services provided to you. Remember, you will never be personally billed or responsible for any services not covered by your health insurance.

Since the opening of the Buford L. Rolin Health Clinic, new services have been made available, which has increased the number of billable services to health insurance companies. As we embark on this new journey, we will be experiencing changes with new technology which will create a stronger Revenue Cycle Team. Our goal is to ensure that each and every one of our patients receive the best care, diagnostic testing, and educational services to promote the best overall health.

TRIBAL LITIGATION

Earlier in the year, the Legal Department provided an update on significant litigation involving the Tribe and Tribal entities. All of the previous cases are still pending in various state and federal courts. Since the last update, there have been developments in the State of Alabama v. PCI Gaming Authority et al., and the following is a synopsis of that pending litigation:

On February 19, 2013, the Alabama Attorney General, on behalf of the State of Alabama, filed a complaint against PCI Gaming Authority, individual Tribal Council members, and individual PCI Gaming Authority Board members (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Tribe") in the Circuit Court of Elmore County, Alabama. The suit alleges that the Tribe's gaming activities are public nuisances and seeks to prohibit gaming on the Tribe's trust lands. The State of Alabama further claims that the Tribe is not operating on Indian lands, under the United States Supreme Court's 2009 decision Carcieri v. Salazar, and that the Tribe's lands should not be held in trust.

The Tribe removed the State's complaint to federal court on March 21, 2013, and filed a motion to dismiss the complaint on March 28, 2013. The State then amended its complaint in federal court to include both a state public nuisance claim and a federal public nuisance claim. The Tribe subsequently filed a motion to dismiss the amended complaint. The United States filed an amicus curiae brief in support of the Tribe, and the State of Michigan filed an amicus brief in support of the State of Alabama's position on July 3, 2013.

On April 10, 2014, Chief Judge Keith Watkins of the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Alabama issued an opinion and order dismissing the State of Alabama's claims against PCI Gaming and various tribal officials.

The State of Alabama submitted a Notice of Appeal to the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals on May 5, 2014. The State's appellate brief was filed on July 7, 2014.

On July 14, 2014, the State of Michigan filed an amicus curiae brief in support of the State of Alabama's position. Michigan was joined by Arizona, Kansas, South Dakota, and Utah.

The Tribe is currently preparing and filing its appellate brief in the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

YOUR HEALTH MATTERS

Small Decisions Make Big Things Happen

Cortisol: “The Good & The Bad”

Cortisol- the hormone that packs a punch!

Cortisol is a key hormone in your body. It lowers inflammation, improves recovery time, breaks down fats, boosts your immune system and controls blood pressure levels. Cortisol is primarily released at night after a strength or endurance training day.

How does cortisol impact your body during training?

1. Breakdown of Fatty Acids: Cortisol enables you to burn more fat, both during and after your training session!
2. Breakdown of protein: The breaking down of protein helps your body recover faster between training sessions.

KEEP IN MIND; there can be too much of a good thing! When your cortisol levels are increased for more than 24 hours, its reaction changes in the body. Cortisol shifts from optimizing your fat loss to increasing fat storage and the breakdown of muscle tissue.

How can you maintain GOOD cortisol levels?

- Take regular, planned breaks from intense training.
- Consume enough calories from non-processed foods to prevent depletion.
- Get 7 to 9 hours of sleep each night to lower the amount of cortisol released.
- Have a post-workout snack consisting of carbohydrates and proteins.
- Try not to isolate yourself. Spend time with friends and family.
- Participate regularly in stress-relieving activities such as yoga or meditation.
- Avoid excessive amounts of intense aerobic endurance training (unless training for an endurance event).

The top culprits that cause high levels of cortisol:

- Lack of Sleep.
- High Stress Levels.
- Being Alone. When you are by yourself, your stress level can increase by 50%.
- Not having enough carbohydrates after high intensity training.

Remember, you can train better and feel better by keeping your cortisol levels in check. Find balance in your daily life and make everyday count!

Win the Day!

YOUR HEALTH MATTERS

Small Decisions Make Big Things Happen

Keeping Control of Your Cholesterol

Burgers. Bacon. Cheesey-fries. OH MY! Ok, now that I have your attention, do you know what these foods have in common? Other than being super-tempting, they are all high in cholesterol.

Cholesterol, a substance made by the liver and found in certain foods, can be our friend. It is needed to make vitamin D, build cell walls, and create bile salts that help you digest fats from your food. A certain amount of cholesterol is actually necessary for good health! However, too much can lead to serious problems like heart disease.

Many factors can contribute to high cholesterol, but the good news is that there are things you can do to naturally keep your cholesterol levels low:

1. Remember the Saying, "You are What you Eat?":

Foods that are high in cholesterol, saturated fat and trans fat include fried, processed and packaged foods like french fries, cookies and chips. Give your body more whole foods, lean proteins, and keep away from the packaged stuff, to help manage cholesterol naturally.

2. Control your Weight: Excess body weight has been linked to high cholesterol levels. Regular physical activity helps to control weight and strengthen your heart, all the while helping to lower cholesterol levels!

3. Limit your Sugar Consumption: Eating sugary foods, especially those made with High Fructose Corn Syrup, can lead to increased cholesterol. Instead of reaching for a sugar filled snack, try having fruits, vegetables and whole grain crackers. They are high in fiber, which can help eliminate cholesterol.

Other factors that may contribute to your body's natural production of cholesterol are lack of sleep, smoking and alcohol consumption, stress, and over-exertion.

If you are concerned about cholesterol and heart disease, talk to your doctor. Although not all the factors contributing to heart disease and high cholesterol can be controlled, many can. Start taking care of your body now and it will thank you in the future!

Reach out to me if you have any questions and have a great September!

IS THERE SADNESS BEHIND THE SMILE?

Teenage suicide is a serious and growing problem. The teenage years can be emotionally turbulent and stressful. Teenagers face pressures to succeed and fit in. They may struggle with self-esteem issues, self-doubt, and feelings of alienation. For some, this leads to suicide. Depression is also a major risk factor for teen suicide. Other risk factors for teenage suicide include:

- Childhood abuse
- Recent traumatic event
- Lack of a support network
- Availability of a gun
- Hostile social or school environment
- Exposure to other teen suicides

The highest suicide rates of any age group occur among persons aged 65 years and older. One contributing factor is depression in the elderly that is undiagnosed and untreated. Other risk factors for suicide in the elderly include recent death of a loved one; physical illness, disability, or pain; isolation and loneliness; major life changes, such as retirement; loss of independence; and loss of sense of purpose.

You are not alone, there is someone who cares!

The Return: Walk of Life

The Return - Walk of Life is an annual event which memorializes our ancestors who were forced out of Alabama onto the infamous Trail of Tears and celebrates our survival as native people and the homecoming of many of our Tribal people back to their ancestral homelands within Alabama today. The Walk begins at Tuscumbia Landing, a historical site on the Tennessee River in which thousands of Cherokee, Creek, and Chickasaw Indians were loaded onto flatboats and steamboats to be removed to Indian Territory (present day Oklahoma and Arkansas). From the Landing, we walk two miles along a known removal route back to Spring Park in Tuscumbia.

Larry Hammonds, Chief of Police

OFFICER COMMENDATION

Police Chief Larry Hammonds received the following Letter of Commendation for Tribal Police Officer William L. Bailey, Jr.

My name is Jon Pascal and I am the Director of the Krav Maga Worldwide Force Training Division. From May 5-9, 2014, we conducted a Krav Maga Defensive Tactics Law Enforcement Instructor Certification Course in New Orleans, Louisiana.

During this course I had the pleasure of working with Officer William Bailey. I was very impressed by his professionalism, dynamic work ethic, and commitment to excellence in training.

During my 15 years of defensive tactics training, I have taught personnel from over 600 agencies and academies throughout the United States. Your agency should be proud to have sent Officer Bailey as a representative.

During this physically demanding course I saw his passion and uncompromising commitment to bringing the very best in law enforcement training to your agency personnel as exemplified by his hard work throughout the week.

I encourage you to take the opportunity to personally view some of the recently learned Krav Maga training methods in a dynamic demonstration. These training methods are designed to give your sworn personnel the ability to use the appropriate level of force in a time of need, and build the skills and attributes desired in your officers.

The mission of the Krav Maga Worldwide Force Training Division is "to save lives by providing the best law enforcement training possible." Again, it was a pleasure to work with such a fine representative of your staff. I look forward to fostering this relationship.

Congratulations to Officer Bailey for representing the true nature of the Poarch Creek Indians and our Tribal Police force!

MT MAKING JOBS & MORE

Historically known for its manufacturing expertise and precision machining for the aerospace and defense industries, Muskogee Technology has recently expanded its capabilities to serve industries requiring heavy steel fabrication. Having acquired new clients from industries in natural gas, heavy equipment, and renewable wind energy, Muskogee Technology has had to seek out additional production facilities to better accommodate the manufacturing needs of their new clientele. This new focus has brought on a catalyst of change for the Atmore based manufacturing company. To produce these larger heavy steel fabricated parts, they are having to increase not only their production facilities but also their workforce.

Remodeling efforts are currently underway at the newly acquired 12,000 sq. ft. northern manufacturing plant, located at 516 North Main Street in Downtown Atmore. This new facility, refitted with high ceilings, will provide the additional space for the manufacturers large scale steel sheering, cutting, bending and welding needs. The new northern production site will be the primary manufacturing facility for Muskogee Technology's production of steel components for the Siemens Company's wind mill generators; for their building of heavy steel fracking pumps for Garner Denver, a natural gas drilling company; and for their manufacturing of heavy equipment for mini excavators and bull dozers for the Caterpillar Company.

Twenty to thirty new positions are expected to be created at Muskogee Technology initially when the new plant opens within the next month, with a total of one hundred new jobs created over the next year. The types of positions needed to be filled will be High Level Certified Welders, Fitters, Machine Operators and Assemblers. All interested job applicants can apply online at www.CIEjobs.com.

2014 FARM BILL REQUIRES FARMERS TO FILE AD-1026 CERTIFICATION

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack has reminded producers that changes mandated through the 2014 Farm Bill require them to have on file a Highly Erodible Land Conservation and Wetland Conservation Certification (AD-1026). The Farm Bill relinked highly erodible land conservation and wetland conservation compliance with eligibility for premium support paid under the federal crop insurance program.

"It's important that farmers and ranchers taking the right steps to conserve valuable farm and natural resources have completed AD-1026 forms on file at their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office," said Vilsack. "This will ensure they remain eligible for crop insurance support."

For farmers to be eligible for premium support on their federal crop insurance, a completed and signed AD-1026 form must be on file with the FSA. Since many FSA and Natural Resource Conservation (NRCS) programs have this requirement, most producers should already have an AD-1026 on file. If producers have not filed, they must do so by June 1, 2015.

When a farmer completes the AD-1026, FSA and NRCS staff will outline any additional actions that may be required for compliance with the provisions. The Risk Management Agency, through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), manages the federal crop insurance program that provides the modern farm safety net for American farmers and ranchers.

Since enactment of the 1985 Farm Bill, eligibility for most commodity, disaster, and conservation programs has been linked to compliance with the highly erodible land conservation and wetland conservation provisions. The 2014 Farm Bill continues the requirement that producers adhere to conservation compliance guidelines to be eligible for most programs administered by FSA and NRCS. This includes the new price and revenue protection programs, the Conservation Reserve Program, the Livestock Disaster Assistance programs and Marketing Assistance Loans implemented by FSA. It also includes the Environmental Quality Incentives Program, the Conservation Stewardship Program, and other conservation programs.

FSA recently released a revised form AD-1026, which is available at USDA Service Centers, www.nrcs.usda.gov/wps/portal/nrcs/main/national/contact/local, and online at: www.fsa.usda.gov. Producers can also contact David Elliott, Tribal Liaison, NRCS Tribal Office, 5535 Poarch Road, Atmore, Alabama, telephone (251) 368-0826. USDA will publish a rule later this year that will provide details outlining the connection of conservation compliance with crop insurance premium support.

Today's announcement was made possible by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. A mother mouse and her three children crept out of their hole into the kitchen and began feasting on some delicious bits of food. Suddenly, out of the corner of her eye, Mother Mouse saw a cat slinking toward them.

When the cat was between the mice and their hole, the mother mouse puffed up her lungs and went, "Woof! Woof!" The cat turned tail and ran. With that, the mother quickly led her children back to safety in their hole.

When they were settled and breathing normally, Mother Mouse said to her children. "Now, what's the lesson from that experience?"

"We don't know," the baby mice squeaked. "It is this," said Mother Mouse. "It's always good to know a second language!"
